

Author(s) Name(s) without degree(s) or qualification(s) (Times New Roman, 12 point, bold, ranged left)

Author(s) affiliation (12 point, ranged left): university, faculty, department, postal code and town, country, e-mail of the main co-author

5 spacings (all spacings 12 point)

TITLE OF A PAPER (14 point, capital, bold, centred)

4 spacings

ABSTRACT (10 point, capital, centred)

single spacing

Abstract should be typed in 10 point Times New Roman, justified, with no intend.

single spacing

Key words: 10 point, ranged left, max. five

3 spacing

double spacing

The text should be typed using Times New Roman, size 12 point, justified, in one line spacing, no intend allowed. The spacing should be held as shown here.

The subheading should be in bold, ranged left, no capital letters. Double spacing should be held each time between any title and text inside the one section, and triple spacing between the end of section and next heading Title.

The margins should be as follows:

- top 3.0 cm
- bottom 2.5 cm
- left 2.5 cm
- right 2.5 cm

Equations should be centered and numbered consecutively with numbers in parentheses ranged right.

Tables, figures, and photographs (black and white only) should be done “camera ready” and arranged throughout the text. Tables, figures, and photographs ought to be numbered consecutively, e.g. Table 2, Fig. 5, Photo 3. Double spacing free between the text and table/figure should be kept. The titles should be centred above tables and below figures and photographs. The 10 point font should be applied for the titles. The titles of the tables and figures should be written in italics, bold where indicated.

References should be listed at the end of a paper numbered in the order in which they are cited in the text. In the text references should be indicated as [5,6].

For books, the authors(s) name(s), initials, the full title in the original language, the editor, place and year of publication should be given, e.g.:

Smith J.: Biomaterials. H.S. Smith [ed.], Pergamon Press, New York, 2000.

For chapters the following manner should be applied:

Smith J.: Biomaterials for liver implants. [In] Modern biomaterials, H.S. Smith [ed.], Pergamon Press, New York, 2000, pp. 31-49.

For papers in scientific periodicals, the authors(s) name(s), initials, the full title in original language, the title of periodical, the title of the paper, the volume, year and pages should be given, e.g.:

Smith J.: New scaffold biomaterials for regenerative medicine. Advances in Materials Science 2 (2001) 1-15.

For conference proceedings, the authors(s) name(s), initials, the full title in original language, the title of the conference, the organiser, place, year and pages should be given, e.g.:

Smith J.: Titanium in medicine. Proc. 12th Sci. Conf. Titanium and Its Alloys, Gdansk, Poland, 2007, pp. 1-15.

The numbers should be done in parentheses. The indent 0.5 cm should be kept. The examples:

1. MacDonald D.E., Rapuano B.E., Deo N. i in.: Thermal and chemical modification of titanium-aluminum-vanadium implant materials: effects on surface properties, glycoprotein adsorption, and MG63 cell attachment. Biomaterials 25 (2004) 3135-314.
2. Nishiguchi S., Kato H., Fujita H. i in.: Titanium metals form direct bonding to bone after alkali and heat treatments. Biomaterials 22 (2001) 2525-2533.
3. Yang B., Uchida M., Kim H.-M. i in.: Preparation of bioactive titanium metal via anodic oxidation treatment. Biomaterials 25 (2004) 1003-1010.
4. Wang X.-X., Yan W., Hayakawa S. i in.: Apatite deposition on thermally and anodically oxidized titanium surfaces in a simulated body fluid, Biomaterials 24 (2003) 4631-4637.

The paper should be written in concise and good English. Authors should use wherever possible SI units.

All papers are peer-reviewed according to the rules stated in Reviewing Process (see webpage of the Journal). The peer reviewers may be proposed by the authors themselves, in accordance with the above procedure, in a separate paper attached to a manuscript.

All accepted papers will be published in electronic version at the webpage: <http://versita.com/asmsse/>, four times a year, in a form accessible form free for both authors and readers. Online (electronic) version is an original version. The sending of Copyright Form for the accepted paper by regular mail is obligatory before publishing.

The ghostwriting and guest authorship are strictly forbidden as contradictory to the scientific work rules and ethics. In order to prevent them, as the authors of a paper, the all and only such persons are to be included, who have substantially contributed into the paper. The contribution into the research from financing agencies and other institutions should be shown in Acknowledgments. Whenever necessary, the Editing Office can demand from the main/corresponding author to show in detail the contribution of any of the authors into the research and the paper. The Editing Office has a right to make all possible administrative steps, when the ghostwriting and guest authorship appears or is suspected to appear, including the disclosure of such accident to the institution being a workplace of the main/corresponding author. The statement of the main author about no ghostwriting and guest authorship in the proposed paper has to be included into the Copyright Form.
